“War Dogs of the Pacific” to Premiere at Doberman Pinscher Centennial

The feature documentary “War Dogs of the Pacific,” directed by Harris Done has been selected to screen at the Doberman Pinscher Club of America’s Centennial Event October 16th, 2008. “I’m honored to have been asked to debut the film for the Centennial and delighted to see the dogs and their brave handlers celebrated in this way,” said Done.

The black-tie event will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the Sunflower Ballroom of the Capitol Plaza Hotel and Convention Center in Topeka, Kansas. Jeffrey Paul Helsdon, Centennial Chair for the DPCA said, “Having present at the event twelve of the men who fought alongside those dogs in the Second World War, some of whom appear in the film, will be an experience never to come along again.”

Over 1,000 people are expected to attend the Centennial event which will honor the history of the Doberman Pinscher breed in the United States and takes place as part of the 2008 DPCA National Show and Convention, which runs in Topeka from October 11th through the 18th.
